

Anti-fraud and anti-corruption policy

Zero tolerance of fraud, bribery and conflict of interest; procurement rules, separation of duties, and the investigation procedure.

1. Purpose

This policy establishes zero tolerance of fraud, corruption and misuse of funds, and sets out the procedures for prevention and response.

2. Prohibited conduct

- appropriation or misuse of the foundation's funds or property;
- submitting inaccurate reporting to a donor;
- giving or receiving an improper advantage, including in procurement procedures;
- concealing a conflict of interest.

3. Financial control

- dual authorisation for every payment above the established threshold;
- separation of the functions of initiating and approving a payment;
- quarterly internal reconciliation;
- an annual independent external audit, with the opinion published in full.

4. Procurement

The foundation charges no fee of any kind for participation in a procurement. Any demand for payment or "facilitation" in the foundation's name is fraud. A conflict of interest between a bidder and a member of staff must be disclosed and is grounds for rejecting the bid.

5. Reporting

Through the same channels as reports under the PSEA policy, including anonymously. The reporter is protected from retaliation.

6. Consequences

A substantiated breach leads to disciplinary action up to dismissal, recovery of funds and, where grounds exist, referral to law enforcement.

approved by the foundation.
